Craig has over 30 years "hands on" experience in the high-tech music industry. His unparalleled career accomplishments are the result of his extraordinary combination of high-level creativity, in-depth knowledge of software engineering and instruments, mastery of performance and entertainment, and consummate insight into the needs of Clavinova customers.

On Yamaha of America's website, Craig is referred to as "one of Yamaha's top innovators in the area of music software and technology." Craig is a highly accomplished keyboardist and musical arranger who has been a featured performer at Carnegie Hall, and he's comfortable conducting everything from traditional piano teaching seminars to beginner user's groups to advanced technology seminars.
